

The China Daily Destroy the four olds

by Sascha Powers

Mao Tse Tung became the leader of china he led the Cultural Revolution to power. Some students became the Red Guards and they helped mao tse tung lead the Cultural Revolution.His remark destroy the four olds (old culture old customs old sayings old habits)was a big mistake people have the right to what they wear think do and what their culture is.

Mao said "I think the Cultural Revolution was to prevent everybody being different and having better stuff than every body else and it being unfair for people less fortunate".

Chairmen Mao took over China so easily he got rid of people who did not like him by killing them. People did not want to die so they followed his rules. But he needed more Red Guards' so he got some one to go to a school and find Red Guards.A girl Ji Li Jiang really wanted to be a red guard.But her father said "no" to becoming a red guard she asked why not her Father said "because your grandfather was a landlord".Well that is not really fair so what if your grand father is a land lord she thought to herself why would I not be aloud to be a Red Guard just because my Grand Father was a land lord.

Da zi bao is a thing that the people in China would do.It is a person or more then one person wrioting something mean about some one else.

she looked with astonishment she look and saw her name in da-zi-bao. "Oh no". Now people would start to say things about her.Then the next day it happened again but this time her teachers name was on the da-zi-bao with her name.

Then the Red Guards got her Aunt and the next door neighbor to go stick the da-zi-boa on her house.How mean is that getting your own aunt to put da-zi-boa on her house.

Then her Aunt found da-zi-boa about herself. Well I went and asked a red guard and she said "that it was not her choice to do it ,it was me I made her put it on the house".

Students in front of Mao's picture

Then the da-zi-boa started but in the beginning there was nothing about her so she did not care much. But then her friend came and told her to come outside and see something as

A Red Guard outfit

and then I went and asked a girl if she would show me a outfit she showed me it wow was it weird it looked almost like a army outfit.It was green and had alot of little details.

Then Ji Li-Jiang went to her Dad's work and he was carrying something and she did not know what he was carrying she thought it was pipes Ji Li-Jiang had not seen him for about 3 months.

Then An Yi Ji Li Jiang's best friend's mom had to climb a chimney because the Red Guards said so. She did she climbed and she climbed to the top and then made it.She had no problem with Mao Tse Tung he was a good person running China but she had to do it anyway.

Then after ten years the cultural revolution ended after Mao Tse Tung died in 1976.

Mao died in 1976 alot of people came to his funeral