

Amy's Timeline

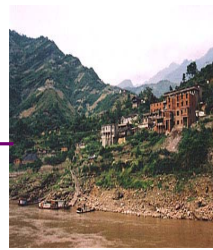

Construction of the Great Wall
221 BC-206 BC
The Great Wall of China was built to protect the north side of China from attacking soldiers of other countries. The Great Wall of China was built by Qin Shi Huangdi, the first emperor of China. The Great Wall of China was built with natural materials such as stone and compacted soil. The Wall is more than 2000 years old and stretches over ...

The Death Of Zhou Enlai
1976 January 8th
Zhou Enlai was an extremely respected person. He was the founder of the People's Liberation Army. He also worked for the party and the government. But in the year of 1976, Zhou Enlai died of cancer. When people heard about his death, they decided to follow in his footsteps and start a peaceful demonstration to protest the terms of the Treaty of Versailles.

Demonstrations by College Students
June 28 1919
The demonstrations started at the end of World War 1. This protest was to increase democratization and freedom of expression. Many lost their lives during the protest. This event is what made people see how important freedom of expression was. People said that these demonstrations ...

The Establishment of The People's Republic
October 1, 1949
The People's Republic was established in Beijing. The people who stood up to the People's Republic were divided into 4 social classes...The workers, the peasants, the petite bourgeoisie and the national-capitalists. They were to be lead by the Chinese Communist Party (CCP). The party was lead under Mao's Chairmanship and Zhou Enlai was head of the government from 1971-1973.

The 10 Years of The Cultural Revolution
1966-1976
The Cultural Revolution (CR) started in October 1966 and ended in 1976 which threatened China for 10 years. Destructive groups such as The Red Guards and the CR Authority took control and drove China into severe confusion and caused the death of many innocent people during the CR. As the violence began, people started to doubt that the CR Authority were good people.